I am aware that dental procedures for animals require the use of anesthesia for: 1) A proper oral examination, 2) To minimize patient discomfort and movement, 3) To provide safety of the pet and medical staff. I understand that some risks always exist with anesthesia and dental procedures and that I am encouraged to discuss any concerns I have about those risks with the attending veterinarian before these procedures are initiated.

It is very important to have a number to reach you during the procedure. If unanticipated disease is identified and radiographs and therapy have not been pre-authorized, your pet may have to be recovered from anesthesia with disease in the mouth requiring a second anesthesia and dental procedure.

If you are going to be unreachable, would you like the veterinarian to proceed at his or her own discretion?

Yes No
